

Let's Play Indoors!

The world is your playground! But when you find your own world is restricted by four walls, it's time to get creative. And this book will help to keep you thoroughly entertained, because it's packed with inspiration and ideas for filling every spare moment. You can dress up as whoever—or whatever—you like, invite some friends over to hang out in your new self-built house or hideout, or wow the rest of your family with a night at the theater.

Every craft in this book needs only a few things that you're bound to have lying around at home. Just find some scissors, colored pens and pencils, paper, and decorative materials and get ready to make! Cardboard boxes, blankets, and glass jars will come in very useful, too—they'll all help to transport you to other dimensions or create beautiful gifts. So next time you're feeling fed up about having to stay inside, take this book off your shelf and get crafting. One thing is for sure: you'll never be bored again.
