

In the mid-1960s it was unusual to say the least in Germany to hang a hi-fi system on the wall like a painting, but today brands such as Bang & Olufsen do so as a matter of course. Naturally, the Braun modules can also be placed horizontally on a table or on a shelf but only on the wall do they develop their greatest appeal.

