

This is everything I owned for the majority of the trip, except for some winter gear, which had already been sent back home when the picture was taken. I bought the guitar in India later in the journey, so it wasn't with me the whole time.