

Crawling to Tehran

DAY 117 - 6986 KM

Coming from below sea level at the Caspian Sea, I had to cross the northern mountain range in Iran in order to reach Tehran. The road was busy with a lot of cars escaping from the city to go to holiday destinations at the seaside. With an elevation of 3,300 m, this was the longest climb of the trip.