

The cover features a vibrant, flat-style illustration of children interacting with nature. At the top, a child in a blue dress is upside down, holding a small black insect. To the right, a child in a white shirt and green pants uses blue binoculars. On the left, a girl with braids in a white shirt and dark pants uses a magnifying glass. At the bottom, a child in a dark blue shirt and red shorts is upside down, holding their head. The background is a light yellow-green, decorated with various green leaves, a yellow crescent moon, and a yellow sun at the bottom right.

Let's Play Outdoors!

Exploring Nature for Children

Illustrated by
Carla McRae

Written by
Catherine Ard