

A simple, traditional spread of flatbread, hummus with pine nuts, and falafel makes a tasty and nourishing midday meal.

The South is thriving, proving that different cultures can exist side by side, and that even a little bit of water does wonders for the driest landscapes.