

How Jonah Hill Went from Actor to Streetwear Trailblazer

The actor got his start with small comedic roles, breaking out in 2007's Superbad. But along the way, he managed to demonstrate a sincere appreciation of skateboarding and streetwear, thanks to developing close ties with brands like The Hundreds and Palace. In the process, he became an accidental style influencer.

