

Sleek Schindelhauer bikes for the hotel guests hang from the ceiling in the entrance, alongside exposed concrete from the original 1950s structure and a large mural. Suspended above a vintage car, they symbolize a better future of urban transport.