

Conditions like these could be one reason the young Marc soon preferred nice, clean tarmac to off-road races. But Marc still loves motocross to this day.

His focus has been solely on the track since 2002. The size of the helmet tells you everything you need to know about how big he was at the time.

