

Anh Coffee Roastery

Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam

Anh Coffee Roastery's flagship store, designed by Red5Studio, is located in the center of Ho Chi Minh City, presenting a unique and immersive experience that combines the beauty of the natural landscape with a modern and visually interesting design.

The inspiration comes from the basalt-red volcanic soil of Vietnam's Central Highlands, the country's main coffee-growing district, and the feeling of being immersed, floating in this serene region on a cloudy day. To recreate this atmosphere, the design team used a "brick-red" color scheme and a gently curving white mesh system to change the appearance of the original glass office block into something more visually interesting. They also incorporated navy blue and natural wood, which are the signature colors of the brand, into the space.

One of the key features of the café is the terracotta brick from the facade. The bricks are drawn into the interior and
