

Lightweight staircases and a ladder to the roof minimally impose on the home's design, allowing light to flow between levels while imbuing the industrial building with a delicate aesthetic.

