

Right
The children can run from one side to the other with ease. Sliding doors can open out the space even further.