

Naturally Unique

Hidden away and offline, Hofgut Hafnerleiten is a collection of cottages where architecture and nature prevail.

HOFGUT HAFNERLEITEN

In the Bavarian countryside, surrounded by unspoiled nature, sits Hofgut Hafnerleiten, an architectural project that blends in with nature. And not only that—it is a project that draws inspiration from nature in countless ways.

Anja Rückerl and her husband Erwin, both co-owners, chose to offer themed guest houses instead of hotel rooms. Well before the trend of cottage villages began, the first house, Das Bootshaus, was built in 2001. It was followed by six additional themed houses—themes include the terrace, the tree, the garden, and knowledge—plus three cottages, and five wellness cubes. Two of the cubes function as saunas, while the other three host a massage room, a cosmetics area, and a color therapy room.
