

“Adventure provides an ideal context for personal growth. It involves being disconnected from day-to-day life, trying something new, being with people you care about, and accepting and managing risk.”