

Embodying the elegance of Nordic simplicity, the timeless traditions of Japanese design, and the tropical allure of resort living, Sjöparken emerges as a unique hybrid. Each corner tells a story of simplicity, unity, and the spirit of the place, creating an unparalleled experience where thoughtful design and nature come together. Seven villas are perched delicately beside the lake, each housing four hotel rooms through glass corridors, offering an homage to the site's history by creating the sensation of strolling through an open-air village. On the inside, warm-toned walls, oak wood cladding, intricate soft textiles, natural stone, and ceramics create links to the adjacent forest and the rippling waters. This is a space to unwind and connect with nature: take a refreshing dip in the private bathing jetties on the lake, relax in the in-room saunas, or gaze at the landscape through expansive windows.
