

---

Designed as a freestanding addition to a classic heritage summer residence on the rugged coastline of Zealand, Denmark, this small pavilion with a thatched roof and a wooden structure serves as an atelier and studio space for Danish creative Marianne Dulong. The small building mimics elements of the main house, while also drawing inspiration from simple rural Japanese wooden structures.

Dulong Atelier by Norm Architects, Klint, Denmark

