

(Previous pages) An open-plan kitchen is lined with light-hued timber strips. There is an area for dining as a family, as well as a breakfast bar set into a partition wall. (Opposite) The curves of the inverted brick arches in the building's external facade find echoes in the sculptural timber forms inside the house. A heavy green curtain transforms the living room into a more theatrical space.