

Well, I went and met Ben again.
In a different hut, up a different hill.
But this time Ben didn't just say hello.

He walked up to me and,
magically, he looked right through me.

Then he climbed all the way through to the other side of me.

And do you know what he saw?
Well, that's a story for another time.