

3

As a primal form of movement, climbing is in our genes—we have been climbing throughout human history.

Angie Payne against a dramatic and beautiful backdrop in Greenland.