

In repurposing the existing structures of the old farming complex, the architects were able to develop the full potential of the site, ensuring the activities of the community remained fully embedded within the natural surroundings.

Gutshof Güldenhof