

The building features a single large skylight, framing the sky and treetops, allowing light to cascade onto the walls and curved internal soffit, all lined with slatted beech.