

For weeks he sleeps under benches and boxes,
Meeting friendly pigeons and red-tailed foxes.
Whenever he sees another creature in need,
He does what he can, regardless the breed.

On days when it rains, he helps mice find cover,
He always shares snacks that he might discover.

No matter the weather, no matter his mood,
He tells himself quietly, "Be kind and be good."

