

Papering is still done by hand, as is the decorative string patterning on the underside of each umbrella. New designs are prompted by the beautiful varieties of washi coming from neighboring Mino and have been featured in fashion magazines including Vogue.

