

“The clients wanted most of the space to be for communal use and receiving guests. This is a house for all, so the private spaces could be reduced to the size of a bed for each member of the family.”

← Between the sleeping platforms
→ A simple kitchen tucked in a corner

