

The Glacier Express is known as the world's slowest express train because, despite its name, it is meant for leisurely sightseeing over an eight-hour journey.

René's family loves to ski, and one of their favorite places to do that is at the famous resort of Saint Moritz. Here they are getting ready to board the Glacier Express for their ski holiday. And off they go!