

After swimming just a few strokes, Fox comes across some rocks that are covered with strange, multicolored sculptures. Unfortunately, these are not the plants he's looking for, they're corals. All the same, the scene deserves to be photographed.

