

Fox's eyes light up when he hears these words. He races off to look for the diving gear that Wolf keeps at home. He makes sure he remembers everything:

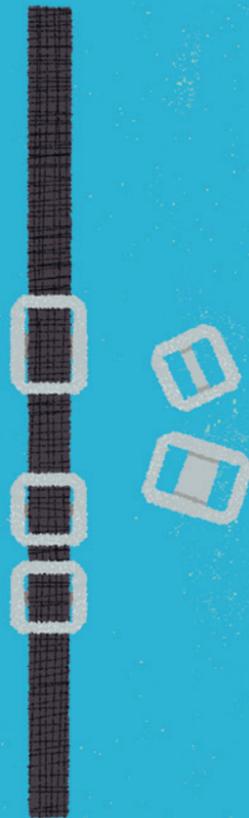

a diving suit

an oxygen cylinder

a mask

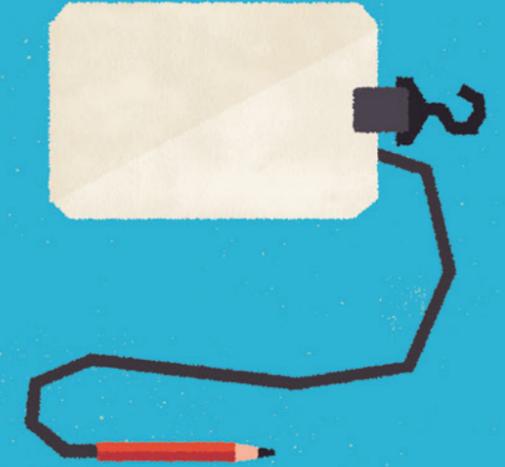

a belt and weights

flippers

a torch

a slate and a pen that can write underwater

a compass watch

and, most important of all, a camera to capture the discovery