

Campfire Stories

There is something special and magical about a campfire. Gather everyone safely around the warm, flickering flames so you can all sing songs, tell stories, or close your eyes and relax.

For thousands of years, people have sat around campfires to talk and listen. They have passed down legends about people and places from the past and told tales of good spirits and spooky ghosts.

Team up to Tell a Story

The first person begins with a sentence, then the person to the left repeats the sentence and adds one of their own. The next person has to remember both sentences and add their own, and so on. It could become a long tall tale with lots of twists and turns!

Enjoy a Campfire Singsong

Why don't you sing some songs around the fire? Pick a tune everyone knows and make up your own words to sing together.

Can you invent a funny, magical, or mysterious story inspired by your own adventures?
